Project Rating

Our analytics team analyzes your projects by the CoinLaunch scoring model that considers 80+ variables related to Product, Tokenomics, Security, Marketing, Team, and Investors. After the first review, the team assigns a grade to your project and provides you with recommendations on how could your team improve the rate. Important to note that the implementation of our recommendations may significantly improve the overall fundamentals, performance, and image of the project not just the rating. The CL score is just a reflection of your project's state.
